

The AI Revolution: Don't Be Left Behind by SLPA Board Member Kevin Desrosiers

AI: Resistance is futile. Embrace the future or prepare to be left in the dust. Join us for a mind-bending presentation on how artificial intelligence infiltrates every nook and cranny of our lives. AI is in the news daily, and much of what you read today is AI-generated. But here's the kicker: it's not just taking over; it's empowering us. Discover how to ride the AI wave, harness its power, and unlock endless possibilities.

The Self-Publishing Revolution by SLPA Board President Andrew Doty

How can any writer become a published author without giving up control and profits? Find out the answers as you learn about The Self-Publishing Revolution with Andrew Doty at the St. Louis Publishers Association on November 8!

This educational workshop will cover the long history of self-publishing and the innovations along the way that have made self-publishing more and more accessible over time, culminating at today's easier-than-ever tools for authors. And once you're caught up on the historical context, Andrew will discuss the steps required to self-publish a professional-quality book and answer every author's biggest questions.

Andrew Doty

Do you have questions about your book? Stick around for the Q&A!

*Andrew Doty is a book coach, editor, and publishing consultant who began self-publishing at the age of 16, then earned a degree in Creative Writing before pursuing a career as an editor of many genres and in many positions. He has served as the Editor-in-Chief of punctum books, the Editorial Director of SOOP, and Editor of MO Humanities, the biannual magazine from Missouri Humanities. Andrew founded Editwright, a publishing consultancy, in 2012 and volunteers as the President of the St. Louis Publishers Association.*

While there are valid concerns about the impact of AI on the writing community, it's important to remember that AI is a tool that can enhance and complement human creativity. Join us for this exciting event and discover how AI can transform your writing journey. Don't miss out on this opportunity to explore the possibilities AI has to offer.

NOTICE: November 8 is the Annual SLPA Member Meeting.

Members in good standing are encouraged to participate and vote to elect 2024 board members. Further details to come during the Oct. 11 meeting and again by email.

We are currently looking for help filling the following positions: Treasurer, Membership Coordinator, Publicity Chair, Graphic Designer. Volunteering on the SLPA board is a fantastic way to meet people in the publishing community, build your professional and personal networks, and help connect authors with the resources they need. To submit a nomination, contact SLPA President Andrew Doty: president@stlouispublishers.org.

SLPA Member Grace A. Wolf

Inspired by her older brother Sam who struggles with autism, Grace A. Wolf debuted her first published book that encourages children to be inclusive of people who are different, using themes of empathy, diversity, and inclusion. May I Sit at Your Table? is a heartwarming tale about a young deaf girl who uses sign language as her primary mode of communication.

Working together, Sam provided the original sketches while Grace enhanced them with color and shading (with assistance from SLPA member and book designer Carolyn Vaughan).

A senior at Clayton High School in St. Louis, Grace is available for interviews and book discussions. For more information, contact Penni Alper: pennialper@gmail.com.

Best advice for new authors:

- Your work is original and unique. Your voice is special
- Popular tropes are important for a reason. Don't ignore them.
- Read in your genre. Check out comps from the past five years and familiarize yourself with trends and standards in publishing

"What I wish I knew beforehand."

- Don't isolate yourself. Work with what's available.
- No one is perfect! Everything is going to be okay. Even mistakes will help you be flexible and stay grounded.

- Enjoy the whole process, not just the "finish line." Every step matters.

"What I will do differently going forward."

- Be more organized and establish a plan.
- Advance marketing is essential, but be open to shift if needed. Try new things one at a time, so you can track what works.
- Be more discerning and strategic. My first time I had rose-colored glasses going into the process. Be more careful how I spend my budget. Track process and results.

Meetings on the second Wednesday of every month

In-person gatherings are suspended due to COVID-19 concerns.

All meetings will be held online until further notice.

Admission and Membership

- Monthly meetings on Zoom are FREE
- Membership is $60 per year.
